County Schools Look Forward To Increased Enrollment

Figures For Past Years May Be Topped

Monroe County's crowded schoolrooms will be even more severely taxed with the opening of the 1952-53 school term next week if the forecasts of local and county officials hold true.

Enrollment in the school system has been gradually rising during the past few years—this year it is expected to top both 1950 and 1951 totals.

In 1950-51 the total enrollment of pupils and students for Monroe County was 6177. Last year this figure was topped by a considerable margin.

For the 1952-53 year the enrollment in all county schools may go beyond 6250.

One of the major results of this increased enrollment may be found in a summary study of the situation which will exist at Stroudsburg elementary schools.

Ramsey school, operated in a larger plant, will have room for its 50 kindergarten pupils without obvious congestion. At Morey school in Stroudsburg, however, the story is somewhat different.

Morey, also, will have 50 kindergarten pupils—and not enough room. As a result, in an effort to avoid overcrowding, the school district will be forced to house its pre-first-graders in the YMCA building on Main St.

The current increase in school-age students is, of course, a reflection of the corresponding rise in birth rates in the nation during the post-war years.

On the nationwide level an estimated 1,500,000 new pupils are expected to take their places in schoolrooms for the first time this year.

This is roughly 50 per cent more than the one million who entered school for the first time last year.

Statistically speaking, national school officials expect nearly 37,000,000 children to enroll for the 1952-53 school year as opposed to 35,000,000 for 1951-52.

The increase in enrollment places a greater load of responsibility on teachers throughout the nation and in Monroe. There will be more problems to meet and more students to whom individuals attention must be paid.

Larger enrollment means greater responsibility for the community itself, as reflected in its chosen school board members. Facilities to take care of the additional children must be provided through proper administration.

All these things are direct results of the gradually climbing population of our county schools.

In one other important aspect, the increase in the number of children attending county schools brings a commensurate rise in responsibility.

This added "duty" will be taken care of by the students themselves, however.

Safety patrols, whose members are responsible for the protection of children from traffic hazards while they are attending public schools, will have a man-sized job on their hands.

With the training given them by teachers and the interest which has been shown, in the past, by Monroe County service clubs, the AAA and local police officials, it seems likely that the children—like their older counterparts—will solve the problem.

Gag Backfires On 'Holdup Man'

Madison, Ill. (AP) — Jack Karpowitz hadn't seen his boyhood chum, Paul Rogenski since leaving here 25 years ago.

So Karpowitz, now of Martin, Ill., just as a joke sauntered into Rogenski's tavern here and in the best of badman style demanded the money in the cash register.

His play ended in one act. Eddie Gocklan, Rogenski's partner promptly smashed a bottle of whisky on the "holdup man's" head and with other patrons thoroughly beat up Karpowitz before he could explain.

Tea Ration Boosted

London (AP)—The national ration of tea, the Englishman's lifeblood, was increased yesterday from two and a half ounces per person per week to three ounces. The Ministry of Food said supplies were now fairly plentiful and there was hope that tea rationing soon could be abolished.

Judge Charges Government Interfered In 1951 Probe Of St. Louis Tax Scandal

Washington, (AP) The Justice Department's handling of the 1951 tax fraud scandal in St. Louis drew stinging criticism last night from both Democratic and Republican members of a House committee investigating it.

"Whitewash" and "most reprehensible" were two of the terms applied to the role of the department and of Ellis N. Slack, an acting assistant attorney general, in particular.

These blasts came after Federal Judge George H. Moore, 74, told investigators the Justice Department—from former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath on down—dragged its feet in a grand jury inquiry into the St. Louis internal revenue office.

Moore said in a sworn statement read at yesterday's hearing that the department took no action to get a complete investigation started until he served notice he was going to order an inquiry himself.

Slack, who twice visited St. Louis on behalf of the Justice Department in connection with the case, appeared in person yesterday and denied he ever did anything "to hinder, slow down or block the returning of an indictment."

Chairman Chelf (D-Ky) of the House judiciary subcommittee now investigating the Justice Department said in a statement the evidence convinced him "there was a deliberate attempt on the part of the department to thwart the efforts of this particular grand jury through the medium—to use the words of one of the grand jurors—of a whitewash."

Rep. Bakewell (R-Mo) told reporters the hearings "have disclosed a brazen and collusive attempt by representatives of the Department of Justice to deceive and misguide the federal grand jury."

The actions of Slack, he said, were "most reprehensible."

He added that Slack's continuing in office "is proof of the fact that the Truman administration is not sincere in its purported efforts to clean up corruption in the Justice Department."

BLS Reports Food Prices In Mid-August Highest In History Of United States

Washington, (AP)—The government yesterday estimated that retail food prices in mid-August were the highest in U. S. history.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its index, based on an eight-city survey, rose nearly 1 per cent during the first half of August. This brought the index to 235.6 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Foods now are about 16 per cent higher, as measured by the bureau, than when the Korean War began in June, 1950.

Higher prices for pork and chicken were main factors in the latest rise in the index. Pork rose nearly 5 per cent during early August; chickens more than 4 per cent.

The bureau reported that prices of eggs and dairy products increased somewhat. There were fractional increases for cereals and bakery products, sugar and sweets, and fats and oils.

Fish prices declined a bit.

Prices of fruits and vegetables averaged unchanged.

Staff Member Dismissed

State College (AP) — The Pennsylvania State College yesterday fired a 52-year-old staff member for refusing to comply with the State's loyalty oath law.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, Penn State president, dismissed Wendell Scott MacRae, publications production manager of the department of information, effective immediately.

Dr. Eisenhower acted upon the report of the college loyalty review board which found that it lacked evidence essential to verify that MacRae "was not subversive."

The board report, Dr. Eisenhower said in a statement, "does not mean that Mr. MacRae is subversive."

"It means only that, based on the evidence offered to the loyalty review board, the board could not make the necessary certification within the authority granted to it by the college."

OPS Lifts Ceilings On Many Goods

Washington (AP) — The government suspended price controls yesterday on radios, television sets, record players, carpets and bedding.

It also abolished price controls on vitrified chinaware, hand-made household glassware, silverware and jewelry.

Ellis Arnall, retiring director of the Office of Price Stabilization, said these relaxations "do not mean abandonment of controls in any area where controls are needed."

He explained that suspension orders are being issued for manufactured goods which are selling well below their price ceilings.

At the same time Tighe E. Woods, who will succeed Arnall as price boss next week, told reporters that if he finds the people don't want price controls at all he will ask President Truman to do away with them.

OPS made clear yesterday that if the prices of items on which controls have been suspended rise to a point where they threaten to pierce the old price ceilings, controls will be reimposed. These "trigger points" vary for each commodity.

Legion Fires Salvo Back At Truman

New York (AP) — President Truman, the old artillery man, fired a verbal cannon ball into the midst of the huge American Legion ranks yesterday—and was not long getting a salvo right back.

At his Washington news conference, the President—a member of the American Legion himself—turned loose some red-hot ammunition at the Legion for its resolution denouncing Secretary of State Acheson and demanding his ouster forthwith.

Truman said Acheson is the best man for the job in the entire United States.

The Legion's resolution, he went on to say, was gotten up by some young boys and they got it passed by a silent vote. What he meant by the latter, he didn't say.

It didn't take long for some of the Legion's leaders to load up and fire right back.

The outgoing commander, Donald R. Wilson, declared in his retiring address:

"I am advised that there are persons who say this convention was conducted by a group of children. I would remind any such person who makes such a statement, that, if we are children, we are children of God, and children who fought for this country, and we don't need instruction from anybody else."

Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, Tex., chairman of the Legion's Foreign Relations Commission which presented the resolution, asserted that all but two of the 33 committee members are 40 years of age or older. Most, he said, are World War One veterans.

The Legion resolution was passed Wednesday on a booming voice vote in Madison Square Garden.

At a news conference following his election yesterday as the new national Legion commander, Lewis K. Gough of Pasadena, Calif., asserted that leadership in the State Department "has been inept."

In his retirement address, Wilson also took a whack at Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

In an address to the Legion Wednesday Stevenson had said "I stand to resist pressure from veterans, too, if I think their demands are excessive or in conflict with the public interest . . ."

Taking note of this, Wilson declared:

"We deny that when we stand up and fight for the rights of veterans who fought and bled for this country that we are pressuring."

COLUMBIA, N.J.—Final stages of the pier work on the Portland-Columbia Bridge—termination point of the four-lane New Jersey "freeway" between here and the new Del. Water Gap Bridge—is being pressed. Only one more pier is needed on this structure. (Daily Record photo)

Jonah Roberts Indicted On Two Counts

Wilkes-Barre — Jonah Roberts was indicted on two counts yesterday in the slaying of his wife last June 10 near Bear Creek.

In a surprise "special report", the Luzerne County grand jury released its double indictment of Roberts on a charge of murder and a second count charging manslaughter.

The 46-year-old Edwardsville machinist is slated to stand trial on the two counts late in September.

District Attorney Louis G. Feldmann said late yesterday afternoon that the "surprise indictment" was given one day earlier than expected because "of the public interest in one of the cases."

Roberts, who is now in custody at Luzerne County Prison, has consistently maintained that his wife was killed and he was wounded by a pair of hitchhikers the couple had picked up on a ride through Scranton.

Seven witnesses, including Dr. Mary Willard, State College chemistry professor who has been described as one of the State's most valuable witnesses, were called before the grand jury it was revealed last night.

Others called to testify before the jury were Joshua Bryant, a Kingston bicycle shop owner who had previously told the court (during a hearing on the State's contested prima facie case against Roberts) that he sold a .32 caliber revolver to Roberts who later requested him not to identify the purchaser correctly; police officers from the Wyoming State police barracks who have worked with the district attorney's office since the case began and Dr. C. E. Rodriguez, pathologist at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital where Roberts was treated for a bullet wound.

Yesterday's indictment climaxed a series of tumultuous hearings on the State's case against Roberts during which time his attorney Frank Slattery Jr. had carried on a constant battle for his client's release from jail on bond.

Margaret Truman Leaves For Home

Paris (AP) — Margaret Truman wound up a five-week visit to Europe with some last-minute shopping in Paris yesterday.

Then she took the boat train to LeHavre and embarked on the S. S. United States for New York.

Asked what she had bought in Paris, she said:

"That's a secret. I don't want to tell you because I don't want my family to learn about it before I get home."

Settles Tax Claim

Washington (AP) — John (Jack) Guzik, known in Chicago underworld circles as "Greasy Thumb," settled $900,000 in federal tax and penalty claims against him for $160,000, the Bureau of Internal Revenue disclosed yesterday.

Contractor Prepares Site For New Jersey Freeway

June 15, 1953 is the date set for completion of the first phase of work on nearly four miles of four-lane highway in New Jersey, connecting with the Delaware River Bridge at Delaware Water Gap.

Contract for the stretch from Columbia to Dunfield, N. J., opposite Delaware Water Gap, was granted Peter Kero, general contractor of Lynhurst, N. J., for his low bid of $1,673,529.96.

An official of the New Jersey State Highway Department said yesterday Kero's contract calls for grading the 3.926-mile stretch and indicated work on the actual highway construction probably will not get under way until Spring of 1954.

The Route 46 freeway, title of the new road, will consist of two 12-foot lanes South and two 12-foot lanes North, with an island serving as a divider.

The contract with Kero was effective Aug. 4 Crews from the contracting firm already are at the site, preparing for grading.

Properties along the New Jersey shore were razed last month as the initial step toward the highway's progress. Sixteen Summer bungalows and a home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Olschewsky at Kittatinny Beach were in the path of the highway and were on the list for erasure.

The highway stretch under contract to Kero ends in front of Kittatinny Beach Inn. The remaining distance to the bridge itself is being acquired by the Pennsylvania-New Jersey State Joint Toll Bridge Commission.

Saadists Oust Party President

Cairo, Egypt (AP) —Egypt's second ranking political party, the Saadists, announced a wholesale shakeup last night in which ex-Premier Ibrahim Abdel Hadi was ousted from the party presidency.

A spokesman said the reorganization was carried out on lines called for by Egypt's strong man, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, who has demanded a cleanup in all phases of Egyptian political life.

The spokesman said a Saadist general assembly will be called to approve a committee's choice of Mahmoud Ghaleb to succeed Abdel Hadi and Ahmed Morsi Badr for the party's vice presidency. Both are ex-ministers.

Traveling Registrars Enroll 36

The running total for special registration for voting went to 279 last night. Of the total, 158 are Democrat, 119 Republican and two independent.

Heaviest registration was at Pocono Lake firehouse where special registrars Dorothy Sandt and Virginia Doll processed 20 Democrats and 11 Republicans.

At Pocono Summit election house, four Democrats and one Republican were processed by registrars Harry Taylor and Grace Scheller.

Next special registration night will be Sept. 3 at Mountainhome and at Snydersville.

Lower House Dissolved By Jap Premier

Tokyo (AP) — Japan's political parties today headed into an election campaign which may sharply affect this nation's future course in the struggle between the Communist and free world.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida in a surprise political stroke yesterday dissolved the lower house of the Diet (parliament) and called for a general election Oct. 1. A total of 467 House seats are at issue.

It gave the voters of this nation of 80 million their first chance to have their say on political issues since the end of the occupation.

They will have an opportunity to exert electoral influence on such hot issues as Japanese trade with Red China, now frowned on by the United States; the rights of American and United Nations forces inside Japan, and the building of a Japanese military force.

State Action First Favored By Nominee

By The Associated Press

Gov. Adlai Stevenson took a middle-road stand last night on the explosive issue of civil rights, endorsing a proposal for state action first before the federal government could step in.

Addressing the New York state Liberal party convention, the Democratic nominee for president said he favors setting up state anti-job discrimination standards with provisions for the federal government to intervene if the states fail to act.

Southern legislators have fought for years against federal handling of the South's civil rights problems, particularly President Truman's program for a fair employment practices commission (FEPC) with authority to punish cases of discrimination in the hiring and firing of Negroes.

The issue touched off a Dixie revolt in the 1948 election.

Many groups usually described as liberal, on the other hand, have called for strong federal action in this field—a point of view embraced by large numbers of Negroes.

Stevenson's Republican apponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, has said it is primarily the responsibility of the states to solve their civil rights problem.

In his speech, Stevenson taunted the Republicans as having only one "liberal hour" every four years—at presidential election time—and said the real question was whether a party platform represented "the clicking of a ghost's typewriter or the beating of a human heart."

Stevenson also jabbed at what he called the "middle of the gutter" approach of the GOP high command in agreeing to support Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) for re-election without necessarily endorsing McCarthy's methods or views in his Communists-in-government accusations.

And the governor, in another crack at Eisenhower as a "me-too" candidate, remarked cheerfully that he would be proud to stand on the Democratic platform "if only the general would move over and make room for me."

Meanwhile, Eisenhower passed the word that he is ready to come out swinging with a "fighting, hard-hitting campaign" across the nation.

Apparently spurred by criticism of his efforts so far—dubbed "milk and water" utterances by one group supporting him—the general let it be known that his campaign will get into the bare knuckles stage within 10 days.

In New York, Associated Press reporter Douglas B. Cornell summed it up:

"The emphasis at Eisenhower headquarters appeared to be directed toward easing fears that the general won't be swinging hard and on specific issues."

Prime issues on which Eisenhower is expected to hammer include Communism, corruption and what an aide described as "less governmental interference with labor-management relations."

Hurricane Moves Out In Atlantic; No Danger Seen

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Able, the season's first tropical storm, swirled erratically out in the Atlantic yesterday between 550 and 600 miles almost due east of Miami.

The tropical blow was located near latitude 25.5 north and longitude 71.3 west, or about 300 miles north of Turk's Island, at 6 p.m.

It had speeded up some and was moving towards the northwest at 17 or 18 miles per hour, with highest winds between 50 and 75 miles per hour. The advisory said there was a good chance for slow intensification.

The storm was well north of the Bahama Island chain and does not present a threat to any land areas at this time.

The youth, Russell Irwin, 17, was reported in "good" condition at the hospital.

Authorities there said the diagnosis was "acute anterior poliomeyelitis." Irwin was admitted to the hospital Tuesday. The physician in charge of the case is Dr. C. R. Hanlon, a hospital spokesman said.

Teachers Oftimes Go To School While Their Pupils Take Time Off For Summer Vacation

Summertime may be a time of "vacation" for students—but to the teacher it's quite often a different matter.

Proof of the statement may be found in the number of East Stroudsburg High School teachers who attended special summer sessions at colleges and universities continuing their own education for the teaching profession.

Dolores Lesoine, librarian and English instructor, attended the courses in advanced library techniques at Pennsylvania State College during the summer.

Another Penn State alumnus, John Eckert, went back for more training there. Eckert, who is an English (and journalism) instructor in the local school, took courses in advanced English.

Michael Jacobella, East Stroudsburg history teacher continued his training in that department at Lehigh.

Advanced courses in supervisory administration and secondary education occupied Richard Forster's time during the summer months at Rutgers.

Harold Kramer, commercial instructor, spent the Summer in courses at Lehigh and Ruth Black another commercial teacher, studied at Cornell. Miss Black is presently continuing her course in advanced study beyong the summer vacation period.

In addition to these full-time attendants in summer courses were those who enrolled in the workshop series at Lehigh University in Bethlehem.

Among these were Mrs. Eugene Martin, Harold Lee and Principal Ralph O. Burrows. The conference was devoted to secondary education and advanced techniques in teaching.

Mr. Burrows' secretary, Louise Prata, also served on the production staff at the workship during the latter part of June.

W. U. Rates To Go Up On Monday

Interstate rates of the Western Union Telegraph Co. will be raised an average 9.3 per cent effective Monday. In general, the increase will boost the price of a 15-word message by "about 5 cents".

This estimate is on messages which are sent over what the company terms a short haul—distances of 100 to 200 miles.

Messages sent to a point more distanct will be increased an average 10 cents for each 15-word telegram.

Cost of messages sent within the State borders, however, will remain at their previous level until the rate increase has been approved by the Public Utility Commission.

The current raise marks the second such increase for Western Union during the past year. Last September it was given the go-ahead signal for an approximate 9 per cent boost.

Waring Cleared Of Reckless Driving

Trenton, N. J. (AP) — Police officials yesterday disclosed that bandleader Fred Waring has been cleared of reckless driving charges.

They said Police Magistrate Albert Cooper Jr. ordered Waring's case dismissed. Police records did not give the reason for the ruling and the judge was not available for comment.

Waring, of Shawnee, Pa., was arrested on April 16 and charged with reckless driving. Police said he exceeded the city speed limit and almost forced a police car from the street.

At the time, Waring told police he was in a hurry to get to a television rehearsal. He was released on bond.

Mrs. Green, 70, Expires At Effort

Mrs. Alice Green, 70, widow of William Green, died suddenly at 2 p.m. yesterday at her home in Effort after an illness of several months.

She was the daughter of the late Jacob and Mary Ann Dotter Kershner; a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Effort.

Surviving are her son, William, at home; one grandson and one-half-brother, Joseph Dotter of White Haven.

Lock Your Car

The total value of autos stolen in 1951 was $9,385,558.

This was the largest single category of stolen property, the FBI reports.

So your car will not be among those stolen this year, lock it whenever you are going out of sight of it. Lock the ignition, run up all the windows and lock the doors as well.

An auto is a temptation to some people, especially boys, who are not exactly criminals. Do not put this temptation in the way of anyone.

Once you have gotten into the habit of locking your car, you will not mind doing it. The peace of mind it gives you will repay you.

You'll also be helping the cause of law enforcement if you take the elementary precaution of locking your car—which, by the way, is a requirement of law in Pennsylvania.

Most of the cars stolen in Pittsburgh are taken by youths under 18. Mostly, they just want to "joy ride" in a handy car. For many of them, this is their first step in crime—to be followed by other, more serious steps.

Business of the Dollar

Latest Commerce Department figures on average earnings indicate Americans are making more dollars than ever before.

The Federal Reserve System's last report indicated total dollars in circulation just under an all-time high.

By other measurements of the economy, volume-wise, things seem to be on the up.

But—

The Bureau of Labor Statistics announces the cost of living is the highest in history.

The Treasury announces that last year it took more tax dollars out of American pockets than in any other year.

Which explains why Americans surveyed in 91 cities were found to be spending $400 more a year than they were taking in.

With the dollar, it seems to be a case of good pitch, poor hit.

No Steaks or Roasts

The Census Bureau indicates that we shouldn't worry about a beef or milk shortage. It has found one cow for every two persons in the United States.

What worries a lot of couples is why their cow has only hamburger and stewing meat.

Comfort

News that the government is going to be only $10 billion in the hole this year instead of the predicted $14 billion reminds us of the old story of the six-foot man slowly sinking into the quicksand.

"Don't worry," yelled a bystander, "it's only eight feet deep."

"Thank goodness," replied the sinking man "I thought it was ten."

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The World Loves Peace

In the Aesopian language universally adopted by Marxists, good words are employed to describe wicked deeds. Those who are moved by the words attach themselves to the wickedness, often unwittingly.

Thus, throughout the period that Stalin has been conducting a cold war in Europe and a hot war in Korea, his vast propaganda machine has been advocating peace, has been accusing the United States of favoring war. Yet, the fact is that since 1945, Soviet Russia has been steadily and ceaselessly conducting a war against the United States.

When actual war can be called peace, the world is topsy-turvy and words have lost their meaning. Yet, there are American men and women who believe anything that comes out of Moscow.

Louis Budenz is an ex-Communist who has devoted himself valiantly to undoing the wrong that his services to Stalin have done to this country. I want to make the point that were it not for ex-Communists and ex-Fellow Travelers, the fight against Communism would have been lost in the United States. Budenz, Bentley, Kornfeder, Chambers, Gitlow, Lovestone, Lyons, Matthews, and so many other like them, provided the essential data for this fight. Without them, it would not have been available.

Unfortunately, many of the most eager battlers in the anti-Communist cause do not know what they are talking about. They have been unwilling to read the hundreds of volumes of Marxist literature; they have failed to study the history of this movement since 1848 in every country on earth; they do not even grasp the nature of a universal revolutionary conspiracy. They often accuse those whom they should support and cultivate because they do not understand the characteristics of conversion. They often take to their hearts known Communist agents because their own stereotypes of Marxists preclude their believing that anyone who is so nice can be one.

That is why Louis Budenz's books and testimony are so valuable. He has, with fanactical frigidity, devoted himself to as objective a statement of the case as is humanly possible. He is a propagandist in a good cause who seeks to convince by accuracy.

His most recent book is "The Cry Is Peace," in which he exposes the Stalinoid effort to wage war against us by new and unorthodox techniques, particulaly by Trojan Horse methods, by shouting "Peace!"

A friend once said to me that the American people know all about Marxism and Communism and that one does not need to write about it anymore. Actually, there is no evidence to uphold such a view. With every change of the Russian technique, it is necessary to start all over again. The Peace Campaign is an index to their propagandistic cleverness. What American does not favor Peace? Then, by Soviet logic, they should all favor Stalin—the lover of peace!

It is this that Budenz exposes in this book, "The Cry Is Peace." And the exposure is full, readable, accurate, and significant. Budenz shows how Russia accomplished her mission of confusing Americans. He quotes Edward R. Stettinius, then Under Secretary of State, as saying, in 1944:

"As we have fought and worked together, we have come to know each other better, and we have found that the cordiality of our relations has grown."

Yet, the evidence now abundantly establishes that a year earlier, in 1943, at Teheran, Soviet Russia was already our enemy. With all the intelligence facilities available to him in the state department, Stettinius should have known better. If such a man could make such a statement, how can one be surprised at the interview with Charlie Chaplain, which Budenz quotes from the "Daily Worker," in which he said:

"They say Communism may spread out all over the world. And I say: 'So what?' Yes, who knows what is going to happen after the war?"

In fact, Chaplain spoke more correctly than Stettinius. Maybe the mummer knew more than the Undersecretary of State.

The real value of such a book as Budenz's is that it provides a ready reference as to fact and personalities for those who really want to know. We read isolated items here and there and forget all about them.

It is therefore valuable for the expert and the amateur to have at his elbow an encyclopedic study that brings the story of Communist propaganda up-to-date. Even now, Stalin has called a meeting of his party for October 5, when the line will again be revised.

Try And Stop Me

When Parson Johnson saw Mrs. Sumter, whom he roundly detested, coming up his garden path, he sought refuge upstairs in the study and remained hidden for a full hour. Finally he risked calling down to his wife, "Has that horrible bore gone yet?" His wife, equal to any occasion, answered sweetly, "Yes, dear, she went long ago. Mrs. Sumter is here now."

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—Employees of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural organization are paid tax-free salaries, provided with pensions, insurance and sickness and accident benefits.

The director-general and all members of the staff of UNESCO are international civil servants, and their responsibilities are not national but exclusively international in character. UNESCO employees, including Americans, take the following oath of office when employed:

"I solemnly undertake to exercise in all loyalty, discretion and conscience the functions entrusted to me as a member of the staff of UNESCO, to discharge these functions and regulate my conduct with the interests of UNESCO only in view, and not seek or accept instructions in regard to the performance of my duties from any government or other authority external to the organization."

UNESCO members are forbidden to communicate to any person any unpublished information and are warned to be discreet in the discussion of their official duties. It is difficult to reconcile this with UNESCO'S frequent attempts to establish a world-wide "free" press and eliminate what it calls "state control of information."

UNESCO employees are also instructed to:

"Pledge themselves to discharge their functions and to regulate their conduct with the interest of the UNESCO only in view. They shall not seek nor receive instructions regarding their duties from any government or from any other authority external to the organization, neither shall they become candidates for any public office of a political character."

Under regulation 35, UNESCO employees are granted the following privileges:

"Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the director-general, UNESCO shall pay the removal cost, travel expenses and travel allowances of members of the staff:

"1. Upon appointment by the secretariat and on subsequent change of official station.

"2. When they are authorized to take home leave.

"3. Upon the termination of appointment; however, in cases of termination of appointment by resignation or dismissal on grounds of serious misconduct, the director-general may withhold the whole or part of these allowances subject to an appeal to the appeals board.

"4. In appropriate cases travel expenses of the wife and children of such staff members may be paid.

"The director-general shall issue special rules to cover children's allowances, education allowances and other allowances, following, where practicable, the principles adopted by the United Nations."

Actual UNESCO salaries, allowances and travel expenses are not made public. Some UNESCO employees, interrogated by congressional committees, have admitted being paid as high as $17,000 annually. In one instance a former government employee who scurried to the international organization with the hot breath of a loyalty investigation on her neck, was employed at an annual salary of $12,000. She had been drawing $4,000 in her federal government job.

If the director-general of UNESCO terminates an appointment, the employee is given at least a three-month notice and pay and indemnity equivalent to at least three months' salary. The amount of the indemnity is increased with the length of service to a maximum of nine months' salary.

A UNESCO staff member who is injured as the result of an accident incurred in the course of his duty, or who is compelled to quit because of illness, receives compensation and medical care. If a UNESCO staff member dies, compensation is paid to his widow and dependents. The amount is set at the discretion of the director-general.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—"You mean," I said to Patricia Stenz as we sat in Room 1009 of the Savoy-Plaza, swinging our feet coyly like the young lovers we could be if her transcontinental schedule would only give us a chance, "that if I came to you with an entirely bald head, you would grow some hair on it?"

"Yes," Miss Stenz said flatly, and our romance had begun.

People who claim they can grow hair on bald heads always are energetic and brisk-looking young men, wearing marcels and white doctors' coats buttoned snappily at the collar, and their fingers point out menacingly from advertisements at you. Not Miss Stenz. Miss Stenz is a 35-year-old redhead with blue eyes and an unswept hairdo who looks like Marge Champion's twin and in a dark night club can pass, and has passed, as Ida Lupino.

A man needs somebody like that to turn to when his hair is going. What can your wife do for you, or your sweetheart? Not a thing but commiserate. A man needs somebody like Patricia Stenz, who will turn her deep blue eyes tenderly into his and pour her preparations tenderly onto his head. You can talk all you want to about going down life's highway with the one you love. When I reach the shaky age and my beautiful crewcut begins to recede, I want little old Patricia at my side.

Miss Stenz, who had whisked into Manhattan to make a television appearance, is well known to the reading public, since four years ago she and the American Medical association collided briefly over her claims to make heads hirsute. Nobody ever has made Patricia back down, but she has talked ceaselessly with her lawyers and knows just how far she can advance her claims. "My preparation will enhance the growth of hair," she told me, with obvious impatience at the restraint that has been clamped on her. But that's as far as she can go professionally. When she told me she could grow hair on my bald head to be, she was speaking as woman to man, potential lover to potential lover.

You meet a lot of people with "messages" when you are out on the streets interviewing actively. Of the ones I have met, Miss Stenz is the most fervent. She seems to feel, in an impassioned way that seems totally apart from her ordinary warm and flip manner, that she was put on earth to keep man from becoming bald. To this end, she has two "hair clinics" in Southern California, in L. A. and Beverly Hills. Also, she does a rushing mail order business in her secret formulas, which were worked out some 11 or 12 years ago, after, she said, conferences with biochemists, doctors and even psychiatrists.

"You can't be God or Mother Nature," she said, smoothing out her blue-and-white-striped summer frock and lighting a cigaret, "but you can help them. If you could see how I have drawn men and boys out of themselves, given them confidence, you'd see why I feel so deeply about this."

Miss Stenz, who has resisted efforts to put her formula on the market in large-scale quantities because she feels a big company would water it down and turn it into just another dollar bottle of "goop," as she says, is a Nebraska-born doll who thinks sometimes she was "doomed" to be in the hair-dressing business. "I was taken out of school at 14, and sent to a beauty school to learn a trade to help support my family," she said, "—and I just seemed to gravitate to bald-headed men. Or men with any kind of hair, for that matter. I remember standing on a piano stool to play with my father's hair, and I even remember what beautiful black hair the milkman had."

She got her magic formula from a millionaire who was an amateur dabbler in cosmetics, she says, and she tried it first on the husband of a woman who patronized the beauty shop where she worked. "It took me one year and three months to grow hair on his bald head but I did it," she told me. "It was white, but it was beautiful."

She bounced from job to job, once working as a carhop in L. A., and then when she was 24 she opened her first shop at Sunset and Vine. Before she began peddling her formula, it was tested on 2,500 men, with no failures among "those who stuck with it." Miss Stenz claims no overnight miracles. It takes, she says, two and a half to five years in the average case to re-grow hair. Only two things can make you bald, she says flatly: the athlete's foot fungi and the ringworm germ. Ninety-two per cent of them have these germs in their scalps, she claims.

Near the end of our interview, I told Miss Stenz what I used to keep my hair so full and glorious and she just winced and said, "That stuff's horrible. If you knew what was in it, you'd never use it." I just sat back and smiled complacently. I could see myself getting bald as a coot in the years to come, and there always would be Patricia to fall back on. The prospect is inviting.

POLL WEEVIL TROUBLE

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

The Viennese may be very clever people and I have always admired them greatly.

Nothing can beat a Viennese waltz or a Vienna roll. The Viennese women are the most beautiful in the world, and Vienna itself is one of the most interesting cities I have ever seen.

But when they think that their latest idea is something entirely new, they are very much mistaken.

We have had the same thing in this country for more years than anyone can remember.

The Viennese authorities have just come up with what they call a "new idea"—bedtime fairy tales by telephone.

This is the way it works: You dial A-0 60 and hear a tape recording of a story from Hans Christian Andersen or the Grimm Brothers. The stories will be changed daily.

That's new?

For years we have had the same idea, except that it was not for children but for adults.

And our fairy-story-system has a much wider range than the Austrian one.

It is not confined to any particular number like A-0 60.

It works anywhere, at any time and gives you much more choice than Hans Christian Andersen or the Grimm Brothers.

Here are a few examples:

The telephone rings at your house.

It's your husband.

"I am terribly sorry, dearest, but I won't be home for dinner. There is a lot of extra work at the office that simply HAS to be finished tonight."

You think you hear music in the background and a lot of voices. But that may be only a bad condition.

You know this one, I am sure.

You call the number of a big executive.

"May I speak to Mr. Hoosegow?"

"Who is it calling, please?"

"Mr. Hoopenstaller."

"Oh, I am terribly sorry. Mr. Hoosegow just left for Philadelphia and won't be back until next Thursday."

Or still another one:

The phone rings. You answer.

"This is the Verybest Radio Corporation, Inc. We are sorry to inform you that the June installment on your television set has not been paid as yet. Unless we receive it by return mail we will HAVE to repossess the set."

"You haven't received your payment? Why, I can't understand that. We mailed our check just the day before yesterday. I'll look into it right away."

There are a hundred variations to this theme.

Of course the Viennese do not confine their service to fairy stories only. They have already had for some time daily dinner menus for perplexed housewives, bus and train information, skiing conditions, football results and a perfect A-tone for musicians.

But I bet that our fairy tales beat theirs all hollow.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—The movies' 1926 version of "What Price Glory" was so successful that Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, as Captain Flagg and Sergeant Quirt, followed it with two or more sequels.

Now 20th Century-Fox has followed it with what it calls a musical approach to originally straight drama. It affords an agreeable way to kill 109 minutes.

As Flagg this time we have volatile, bantam-roosterish Jimmy Cagney. Quirt is limber Dailey, who manages to be equally loud and authoritative. The cause of their verbal clashes is sultry Corinne Calvet, as the French girl Charmaine who can't make up her mind between the two World War I doughboys. She is certainly every bit as alluring as her predecessor in the role, Dolores Del Rio

The theme of the piece is that cameraderie of fighting men can be stronger than love-rivalry. The music is worked in unobtrusively, notably a Jay Livingston-Ray Evans innovation called "My Love, My Life."

This is sung by Marisa Pavan, as a French schoolgirl loved by soldier Robert Wagner. Miss Pavan making an acting debut, is the twin sister of M-G-M's and Italy's Pier Angeli. Others in the case include William Demarest, as a hard-working corporal, and James Gleason as a hard-bitten general. Cagney and aDiley give strong and often amusing performances.

Louis Hayward isn't really a bad man in "Captain Pirate." He's just a doctor living quietly in Jamaica, trying to heal hurt people and help a few slave escape. But his past as Capt. Peter Blood, a seaman forced more or less innocently into piracy, keeps interfering.

It sets him off to clear his name after Cartegena is sacked and he is wrongly suspected. The most amiable of the seagoing robbers he tracks down is played by George Givot. Waiting for Louie, after all manner of sea-fighting and trickery, is noblewoman Patricia Medina.

Hayward's cape-and-sword pictures are so successful at the boxoffice that Columbia has gone into Technicolor for this one. It's the eighth for this one-time portrayer of sophisticated comedy on the London stage.

ADLAI GOES FISHING

("Adlai Stevenson got a little relaxation by going fishing." — News item.)

"What's running?" Adlai asked.

"You're apt to get most anything, but you've got to go after 'em with more spirit and determination," said the guide.

"It's the old reluctance routine, I suppose. I wish I could shake it off," said Mr. Stevenson.

"When a fish wants something it don't fool around much," the guide put in.

"I wouldn't call that a highly intellectual attitude," argued the Presidential nominee. "It is not always wise to leap at the bait."

"Have you fished much?" the guide asked.

"I did some exciting angling in Chicago recently."

"Catch anything worth while?"

"I'm not exactly sure. I won't know until November."

"Were you trolling, casting or still-fishing?"

"I was still-fishing out by myself in an open boat. A lot of other fellows were shipping up the water like mad with big casting rods."

"How'd they do?" asked the guide.

"They got action, but the big one got away."

"Didn't they get anything?"

"Feller named Kefauver had a whopper close to the boat but it got off at the last minute. Dick Russell had the big one on but his line got all tangled up in rocks and they took his rod and reel away on the claim he was too old to fish with the light tackle he was using."

"I hear a feller named Harriman did well for a spell."

"It only seemed that way. He finally gave up and got into the boat with me."

"Did you have trouble landing your big one?"

"I made it look hard, but it wasn't really. I like to play a whopper like that, give it plenty of line and let it run and leap before I set the hook."

"They tell me it nearly got away."

"Not at all. It was all part of the act. It's my style of landing the ones that count."

"Do you do any fly fishing, and what do you use?"

"I find the Reluctant Dragon, the Shy Skimmer and the Bashful Floater most effective, but I also get good results from the Frivolous Pinkie and the Literary Flasher."

"What about this feller, Harry Truman? Ever fish with him?"

"No, but I'm afraid I'll have to."

"Is he good?"

"He likes to row the boat and direct the fishing, too. Says you have to fish his way. Declares he is the key to a good catch. Got that way fishing the Florida Keys, I suppose. I must make a note of that one. It's not bad."

"How about Ike Eisenhower? They tell me he's a regular Zane Grey."

"Oh come now, don't spoil this trip for me completely."

Stroudsburg Bottling Co. Building Annex To Plant

By James B. Gaffney

An extension, 30 feet by 50 feet, at Stroudsburg Bottling Co., 1148 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, designed to give more elbow room, is nearing completion.

Louis (Doc) Helman, owner of the bottling firm who moved to Monroe County 25 years ago and has conducted his enterprise successfully ever since, noted the addition will grant more working space for his four employes and should be ready in two weeks.

James B. Gaffney

In the near future Helman also expects to add to the rear of his establishment, now over 100 feet in length.

The new area being constructed of concrete block will move operations to the sidewalk and enhance the appearance of the building.

When Helman located here he started his bottling works for soft beverages on First St. After 14 years at that location he moved to S. Ninth St. and five years later purchased the present building.

In a specially equipped room syrups are concocted from extracts. Sugar, which is purchased locally, is added and one of 25 flavors is mixed, then filtered and bottled in sterilized bottles. After making a batch of one flavor, the vat is thoroughly sterilized and another flavor mixed.

Helman utilizes 6½ oz., 9 oz., 12 oz. bottles to distribute his product. Aside from a chocolate drink which he distributes for an out-of-town manufacturer, all beverages are made at the W. Main St. plant. Helman also makes and distributes birch beer on tap.

The bottling machine presently in operation is capable of producing a full case, either 24 small or 12 quart bottles a minute. The market is sought by Helman's son, Bernard (Young Doc) who acts as his father's salesman.

Stroudsburg Bottling Company's products are distributed in Monroe County and parts of Northampton and Pike Counties. Three trucks are used to take the soft dring to customers and the plant is open seven days a week, with service available 24 hours a day.

Concrete was poured yesterday at the new J. J. Newberry Co. structure, Sixth and Main Sts. in Stroudsburg, marking finish for that stage of operation.

Only a portion of the basement floor had been concreted while steel erection crews were at work last week. It was explained this was to allow the plumbing and heating contractor time to install piping. With the completion of this project, the concrete was poured and the basement all but finished.

Department stores in the Poconos have upset the proverbial applecart by contradicting a general statement by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia that department store sales declined slightly from June to July in the district.

The bank's statement is more applicable to regions outside the Poconos, and was given broad rather than pin-pointed.

A survey of department stores here reveals that business boomed, or at least maintained its force, during July. The obvious explanation is the influx of summer trade, vacationists pulling out of the metropolitan area where the sales definitely dropped. Philadelphia was the only city of six that enjoyed a slightly better result.

The bank also announced stores exceeded their volume over the corresponding month a year ago. This statement is backed wholeheartedly by managers of stores in this region.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Seems as if there might be some peaches canned at midnight to judge by the women at the final ladies luncheon at Glen Brook yesterday who said "I ought to be home canning peaches."

However, none of them looked the least bit worried they'd come, and they made quite a vivid sight in their bright colors spread out over the greens.

From now on though, everybody's going to have to tend to their knitting it seems, to get ready for school days, and club days and PTA days.

And speaking of parents, there seems to be quite a few mother and son discussions these days about whether the faculty frowning on dungarees is going to be effective. Apparently, the individual boys are quite willing to wear slacks, if they're assured that all the other boys will, too.

But they'd rather be caught with holes in their socks than one crease more dressed up than the other. Talk about women being style-bound, men and boys are much more convention-minded.

Oh well, we've got a few days in which they can compare notes, and almost a full week during which they're bound to get every available pair of dungarees dirty.

Parents Have Share In School Through County PTA

The beginning of school means not only new activities for the children but for their parents as well, particularly as they are drawn into school activities and interest through the activities of the Parent-Teachers Associations of the county.

Of the fifteen active PTA groups in the county, nine are headed by men, and their activities range from working for playground equipment to superintending the hot lunch programs.

Major function of Parent-Teachers Association is to provide a closer working relationship and understanding between the school and the home, while its secondary purpose is to provide equipment and extra-curricular activities not provided for in the school budget.

For this purpose, the PTAs have adopted many fund raising activities from amateur shows to bread and cake sales, from square dances to concerts, from rummage sales to thrift shops and trading posts.

Last year the county Council of Parents and Teachers was reactivated to provide leadership training for officers and to channel the information provided by the state and national Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Through the county council, this year Monroe County will have the distinction of playing host to the state convention of the Parent Teachers Association to be held October 20 to 22 at Pocono Manor whose sessions will be open to all local parents and teachers interested.

Through the council, too, the county has taken part in district activities with Mrs. Merle E. Stevenson elected as district treasurer at the meeting last Spring.

Mrs. David Mazer is president of the county council; Mrs. Wendell Wicks, vice president; Mrs. Phillip Henning, secretary, and Mrs. Clifford Cramer, treasurer.

Two of the smallest Parent-Teachers Associations of the county are those of the two-room schools at Analomink and Delaware Water Gap. Mrs. Addie Weidman is president of the Analomink group; Mrs. Paul Cramer is vice president; Mrs. John Hammil, secretary; and Mrs. Lillian Wagner, treasurer. One of the highlights of their school year is the trip to New York for the members.

Mrs. Frederick Shoemaker is president of the Delaware Water Gap group, which last year took on the sponsorship of Cub Scouts of the community.

In Barrett, Emmett Boone Jr. is president; Mrs. Erwin Skinner, vice president; Mrs. June Young, secretary, and Mrs. Grace Depue, treasurer.

Clearview's Parent-Teachers Association is headed by Robert Heltmann, president; Mrs. Heltmann, vice president; Mrs. John Schoonover, secretary and Mrs. Edwin Buck, treasurer, and their current project is to provide a playground back of the school.

Layton Kinsley is president of the Coolbaugh Parent-Teachers Association; Frank Kresge is vice president; Esther Foley, secretary; and Mrs. Cloyd Miller, treasurer, at Tobyhanna where the problems of a growing community promise to provide many projects.

Michael Hannon is beginning his second year as president of the East Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association with the proposed establishment of hot lunches in the school still high on the priority project.

Five regional vice presidents will assist in the work this year: Mrs. Earle Slutter, Miss Vivian Huffman, Mrs. Harry Heller, Mrs. Jesse Flory and Mrs. Arthur Ackerman. Mrs. David Bernbaum is secretary and Mrs. James Strunk is treasurer of the association.

In addition there is a Band Mothers association with Mrs. Walter Grosskopf as the new president.

Hamilton Township, now in the process of consolidation of its one room schools has a PTA of which Verdon Frailey is president; Mrs. Lucy Warner, vice president; Miss Elsie Shafer, secretary; Mrs. Elmer Veety, assistant; Thomas Rogers, treasurer; and Mrs. Andrew Kaiser, assistant.

Jackson Township Parent-Teachers Association, reorganized last year, re-elected James Heitman as president.

In Middle Smithfield, Mrs. Roy C. Squires is the new president of the PTA, with Joe Shoemaker as vice-president; Mrs. Joan Place, secretary; Mrs. Bertha Rosenberger, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Brink, chairman of the hot lunch program and Mrs. John Richards as public relations chairman.

Paradise Township Parent-Teachers Association is headed by A. E. Bolyn, and has sponsored the Scout program in that community.

Pocono Township Parent-Teachers Association in Tannersville is headed by Francis Mooney.

A new Band Boosters association, of which Mrs. Robert Frailey is president, last year carried on an active program on behalf of the new band.

LeRoy Hinton is president of the Polk Township School at Kresgeville with Thomas Carner, vice president; Mrs. James Mack, secretary and Mrs. David Griffith, treasurer.

Smithfield PTA has already held an executive board meeting and planned for its opening activity which will be a farm and home show in September. Donald Brink is president of the group; Mrs. John Heller, vice president; Mrs. Russell Albert, secretary; and Mrs. Grace Posten, treasurer.

Big Attendance Marks Luncheon At Country Club

Almost 100 per cent attendance marked the final ladies luncheon for the summer at Glen Brook Country Club. The business meeting followed a turkey luncheon, with Mrs. A. Byrd McDowell, president, presiding.

Mrs. McDowell presented Mike Rubisch, club pro, with a gift from the women of the club in appreciation for his help during the year. She, in turn, was presented with a gift from the club members by Mrs. Clifford Heller, chairman of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Elton Dening is president of the Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association with Mrs. Fred Rhodes, vice president; Mrs. Harold Pine, secretary; and James Hantjis, treasurer.

Mrs. James Kitchen of Pocono Lake is chairman of the Tobyhanna Township Parent-Teachers Association which is off to a flying start with its community fair, horse show and other Summer activities for the benefit of the hot lunch program of the school.

Weston Fenner is listed as president of Chestnuthill PTA,

Fri. Oct. 10—Teachers' Institute, second day.
Wed. Nov. 26 — Thanksgiving recess begins, 2:30 p. m.

Stroudsburg High School this year inaugurates a new and earlier starting time for its daily school sessions.

Beginning Thursday, Sept. 4, the opening day of school, Stroudsburg students will enter the school building at 8:30 a. m.

The first period—from 8:35 to 9:06—will be devoted to a daily "activity period."

School will recess at 11:48 for lunch. Students will meet again in their assigned homerooms at 12:45 p. m. for the afternoon session.

School will dismiss each day at 3:29 p. m.

The difference in daily morning class time represents the first major schedule change in a number of years at the school.

Stroudsburg Elementary Principal Roger Dunning last night issued a series of special instructions governing class schedules for the opening day of school.

First graders at the Ramsey and Morey schools will attend class sessions only from 9 to 10 a. m. on Thursday, Sept. 4. There will be no first grade afternoon session.

Pupils in grades two through six will go to school from 9 to 10 a. m. and again from 1 to 2 p. m.

Again on Friday only—from 9 to 11:35 a. m. with no afternoon schedule.

Grades two through six will attend on a regular schedule Friday —from 8:45 to 11:45 a. m. and 1 to 3:30 p. m.

Parents To Hold Meeting

Parents of all kindergarten pupils in the Stroudsburg school system are requested to attend a special morning session with the teachers on Thursday. Children will not attend kindergarten on the opening day.

Following is the schedule:

For parents with children enrolled in the Ramsey morning kindergarten — 9:30 a. m. in the Ramsey building.

For parents with children enrolled in the Ramsey afternoon kindergarten — 1:30 p. m. in the Ramsey building.

For parents with children enrolled in the morning session of Morey kindergarten — meet at 9:30 a. m. at the YMCA.

For parents with children enrolled in the afternoon session of Morey kindergarten — meet at 1:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

Due to overcrowded conditions at the Morey school, the Stroudsburg district has been forced to move its kindergarten classroom from that school building to the YMCA.

Both Ramsey and Morey schools have 50 kindergarten pupils estimated for enrollment during this school year.

Is your closet tank a "drip"?

See the NEW Crane "SAHARA" designed to end dripping

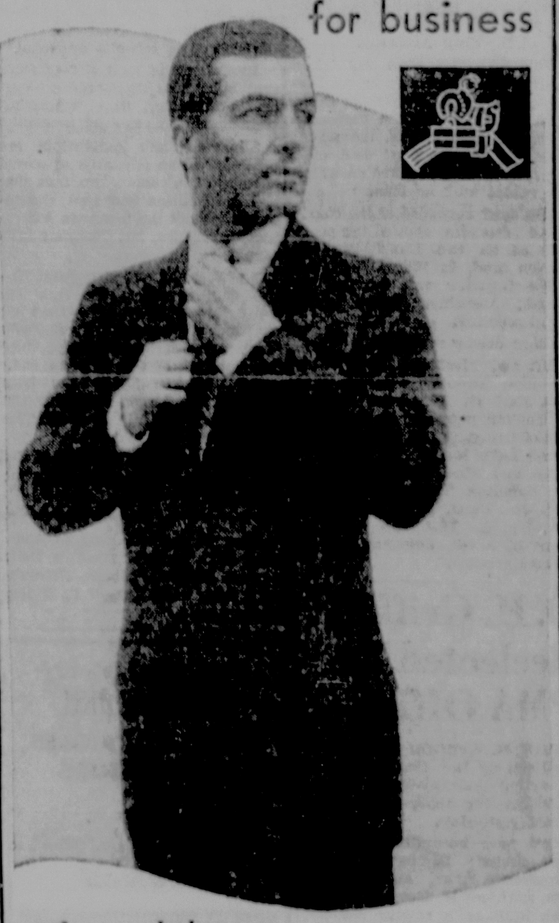

Here's a new idea in closet tanks designed to end an old nuisance —dripping caused by high humidity. Heavy rubber insulating liner keeps cold water in tank from cooling the tank's outside surface, thus eliminating excess condensation.

The Sahara tank is available with four popular Crane closets and is also adaptable to many closets now in service.

School Site Transferred To Authority

Eldred School District yesterday recorded the transfer of five acres of property to the State Public School Building Authority.

This was the same step taken by Hamilton Township School District this week. Before the State Building Authority can start construction of a school, the school district involved must deed over the land it has acquired on which the school will be built.

The deed recorded at the courthouse yesterday showed the property as on the Kunkletown-Palmerton road, in Eldred Township.

The transfer was recorded by Forrest Mervine, Eldred school board solicitor.

Other deeds recorded:

Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Dries, Hamilton Township, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Messinger, Bangor, a Hamilton property on the south side of Grove st., on plan of Wahtawah Lake lots.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Fraser, Hamilton Township, to Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Williams, that township, a Hamilton tract of about 2.5 acres, adjoining land of Jacob Hartman.

D. H. Griffith Reelected To PMA Office

David H. Griffith was reelected chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration county committee for 1953, the PMA reported yesterday.

Two new committeemen have been elected: Homer L. Singer, Stroudsburg RD3, as vice-chairman, and Paul R. Everett, Kunkletown RD2, as a regular member. The committee is composed of only three men.

Three green pastures contest winners also were reported by PMA.

The contest which ran from July through August included only Monroe County. In first place was Robert W. Neyhart, East Stroudsburg RD3, who was first in 1951; second, Robert T. Bloom, Stroudsburg RD3; third, Russell C. Young, Saylorsburg.

State Approves College For Veterans' Training

Official approval of the State Teachers College, East Stroudsburg, as a training institution for veterans of the Korean conflict has been given by the Division of Training Facilities for Veterans of the State Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, president of the college, announced yesterday that his office had received official notification from the State division of the school's approval.

In the case of East Stroudsburg and other State-supported colleges and universities, the "approval" was merely a matter of formality.

Since all State institutions are operated on an officially approved standard curriculum, the fact that the local college had met the requirements of the law was a foregone conclusion, Dr. Noonan indicated.

The approval, effective Aug. 20—the date on which the new bill went into effect—means that all veterans of the armed forces who have served during the time since the outbreak of the Korean campaign and who have now been honorably discharged may enroll in the college for full or part-time instruction.

A veteran is entitled to a day and a half's training for each one day spent in service.

Stroud Township Children Asked To Take Lunches

All parents with children in the Stroud Township Schools—Clearview and Analomink—are asked to provide their children with adequate lunches during the first several weeks of school.

Officials are not, at present, certain how long it will take to get the school system's hot-lunch program in operation for the year.

Dr. Dening's office will be closed August 23rd to September 3rd.—Adv.

Art Show Slated Today, Saturday

The sidewalk art show featuring work by members of the Pocono Mountains Art Group will again be featured in Stroudsburg's courthouse circle today and tomorrow.

The group show made its first appearance last weekend. Miss Olivia Dreher is chairman for the show.

David Miller, East Stroudsburg will return to the exhibit on Saturday afternoon for another session during which he will sketch portraits of visitors.

Cadillac

It Means So Much—To So Many!

In all the history of the world's commerce, it is doubtful whether another manufactured product has ever had such a hold on the affections of its owners as the Cadillac car.

There is a well-to-do gentleman in a southern state, for instance, who will permit no one to minister to his Cadillac except himself—other than for its mechanical needs. He washes it, polishes it and cleans it . . . himself.

There is a family in New York which has owned a long series of Cadillacs to which have been given the names of people—because they regard their cars as all but members of the household.

There is a professional man in a mid-western state who insists that his whole life changed for the better when he got his Cadillac.

These are but typical of innumerable instances of the deep regard in which Cadillac owners hold their cars. The loyalty and respect a Cadillac engenders are extraordinary indeed.

You might well ask what there could be about a motor car to make it mean so much to so many.

The answer is not far to seek.

Because of its world-wide standing as one of life's better things, it reflects credit upon its owner and indicates that he is a person of substance and good taste.

Because it performs so well and so dependably, it is conducive to his desire to travel and to see the world—an inspiring companion for his daily movements among his fellows.

Because it is beautiful and luxurious, it is a joy to own and a pleasure to contemplate.

Standing in his driveway, rolling down the streets of his favorite city, or parked at the entrance to a distinguished club or hotel—it is a credit to his judgment and a testimonial to his work.

No wonder he cherishes it, and thinks of it as all but a part of his own personality.

Don't you think that a car which can mean so much to so many could mean a great deal to you?

Better come in today—and talk it over.

Labor of Love

This week-end, all the folks at A&P join with customers and other friends in celebrating Labor Day.

And on this day, we're particularly proud to express our appreciation to our employees. We're proud of their loyalty . . . proud of the way they work to help you, and to help us.

Naturally, they're busier than usual right before this holiday when folks are buying for the long week-end, but you'll find our clerks just as efficient, just as friendly and honestly helpful. When they give you that "something extra" in attention and courtesy, it's because they regard A&P customers as neighbors and friends . . . and their service becomes a real "labor of love"!

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

A Letter to the Editor carried in this section yesterday and written by Coach Jack Kist was very disturbing to this writer and to virtually every other loyal football fan in the area. Kist has built the East Stroudsburg High School football team from a squad that couldn't punch its way out of a wet paper bag into one that held its own against all comers last season. Now, all that work, five years of it, appears ready to topple down because those who would like to wear a purple and white uniform during the 1952 grid campaign don't seem willing to practice and work for the colors they desire to guard for the next three months.

East Stroudsburg High School won four and lost the same number of football games last season and the squad was dined in all corners of the borough and went down in the record books as the most successful grid machine in the history of the Fall sport up on N. Courtland St. Just when the sport is at its peak, several key performers decided to back out of the picture and others decided that they are ready to answer the whistle for the coming campaign with very little, if any, practice. Good football teams are made on the practice field, not in the classroom or the movies. Hard work and hard work alone molds good grid material.

Of course Coach Kist and his assistants, Del Davis and Dick Forster, are blessed with the usual number of "old reliables," guys that turn out for the practice grind whether they limp, can't pass because of an injury or can't punt because of a pulled leg muscle. Others decide not to practice because they have a puffed lip, a scratched arm, or can't break away from their Summer jobs one week early to get in proper condition for the coming football campaign. Regardless of the injury, I'm certain the East Stroudsburg High School coaching staff won't send a gridder in poor physical condition through a strenuous workout. The boy may be asked to run, if it's not a leg injury, to keep in top condition, but certainly no injured player is going to be sent through contact work.

Football appeared to have hit its peak at N. Courtland St., so much so that all the other sports had taken a back seat until the present time, when those battling for a grid position this season have shown just how disinterested they are in the sport. Kist arranged evening practices, beginning at 6:30 p. m., so that all concerned could maintain their Summer jobs and still be available for practice. However, there have been times during the infant pre-season campaign when as many as a dozen players have failed to put in an appearance at the Memorial Stadium practice field. The Cavaliers open their season on Friday, September 19, in a night game at Slatington. This means that the Cavaliers have just about two weeks of actual practice time in front of them before the bell rings at the starting gate.

At this time the Eastburg coaching staff must find five or six players to round out a second team. The Cavaliers are pretty well set as far as the first team is concerned, but the greatest first team in the land could never win a ball game without proper reserves. There's no doubt in this writer's mind that several members of the Eastburg squad are pouting because they won't make the first team and in turn fail to consider that approximately 19 or 20 of this year's Eastburg squad are members of the senior class and the future features a rosy glow.

Nobody is predicting that the Cavaliers will sweep over all opposition this season, as the Lehigh-Northampton League should be stronger than at any time in recent years. However, the Cavaliers on the other hand should be able to hold their own, just as they did last season, providing the boys out for the team knuckle down at this point and exhibit the hard work needed to put them in the proper condition to meet the bumps and bruises connected with the game of football. The only place to get in proper condition for the tough campaign ahead is on the practice field.

The people of East Stroudsburg have advanced with football at the local high school during the past four years, and according to scattered reports, the local population was shocked at the apparent attitude of some of the youngsters on this year's team, boys who would like to be football players but conduct themselves in a manner befitting anything but a grid star. Missing one practice, without a true reason, affects not only the player involved, but his teammates, his team, the coaching staff and the school.

If the Cavaliers return to the practice field on Tuesday with the same spirit and hustle they exhibited during the 1951 campaign, much of the lost time can be accounted for, as the team prepares for the opening game of the season. However, it's going to take a lot of work and more spirit than has been exhibited thus far this year by the Cavaliers. There's a long row to hoe before the coming campaign gets under way.

Urzetta Reaches Semi-Final Round Of Canadian Amateur

Vancouver, B. C., (AP)—This was a hitter's day on the meandering 6,804 yards of hilly Capilano Golf Course as powerful Sam Urzetta and beltin' Billy Campbell led the way into the semi-finals of the Canadian Amateur Golf Tournament.

Ed Meister of Cleveland checked the title bid of the San Francisco Merchant, Robert Roos Jr., beating him five and three with a two under par performance through 15 holes.

Long Hitters

When Larry Bouchey of Inglewood, Calif., squeezed out a one-up victory over Jack Reynolds of Vancouver it assured a convention of the big hitters for today's 36-hole semi-windup.

Campbell made quick work of his match this afternoon against Gordon Haskell of Seattle. The Huntington, W. Va., politician smothered his opponent, six and five, playing 13 holes in four under par despite one three-putt green.

Urzetta, the East Rochester, N. Y., star who won the U. S. Amateur crown in 1950, closed out Bob Gray of Winnipeg, four and three.

Little League All-Star Foes Clash Today

Canadensis—Stroudsburg Little League All-Stars tangle with the Pocono Mountains League All-Star today for the third time this season, when the two foes clash here on Siglin Field, at 6 p.m.

In two previous meetings, both played on the Stroudsburg circuit's field, the rivals battled to deadlocks.

Other Meetings

The first meeting resulted in a 1-1 tie and the second was an 8-8 stalemate. Both games were halted after six innings by darkness.

Today's struggle will undoubtedly be the final game of the campaign for both teams.

Indians Split With Tigers

Detroit (AP)—Prince Hal Newhouser of the Detroit Tigers spoiled the Cleveland Indians' bid to gain on the leading New York Yankees last night, the veteran lefthander pitching an eight-hit 4 to 1 victory before 53,988 fans, largest crowd of the year here.

But the Indians won the first game of the twi-night doubleheader 9-3.

Lee Wins Shawnee Women's Golf Crown

Adds Title To Honors In Medalist Play

Shawnee-on-Delaware—Miss Patsy Lee, 15-year-old golfing sensation, won the Shawnee Inn and Country Club women's golf title for 1952 yesterday, when she scored a convincing 13 and 12 victory over Mrs. C. Dudley King, in the scheduled 36-hole final round played yesterday.

The two golfers played 18 holes during the morning and six in the afternoon, as the match came to an end at the end of the 24th hole, with Miss Lee scoring a sensational victory. No medal score was kept during the match.

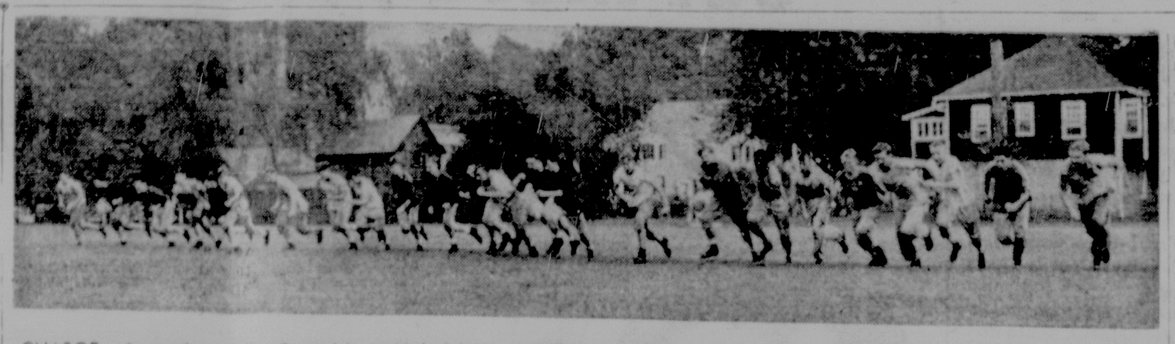

Miss Lee, who has gained fame as one of the outstanding young golfers in the sport today, also won medalist honors in Monday's qualifying round with a straight 80 score, as approximately 20 women golfers took part in the event.

Lead

Yesterday's championship match featured Miss Lee in front from start to finish.

The women's club championship putting tournament will be held this afternoon and the various prizes will also be awarded today.

Club championship play for women is an annual affair at Shawnee.

Unknowns Win In Tournament

Portland, Ore. (AP)—Shirley McFedters, a tall, chill-nerved graduate of public links play, beat Claire Doran of Cleveland on the 20th hole yesterday to put the last of the internationalists out of the Women's National Amateur golf championship.

The defeat of Miss Doran, runner-up to Atlanta's Dot Kirby for the title last year and a member of this year's Curtis Cup team, left four comparative unknowns to fight it out for the title in today's semi-finals and the 36-hole final tomorrow.

Entries

They are Miss McFedters, a silent, slender 21-year-old from Long Beach, Calif., Mrs. Jacqueline Pung, a 210-pound Hawaiian housewife; Pat Lesser, the pigtail-wearing 19-year-old from Seattle; and Pat Garner, 24-year-old, from Midland, Texas.

Mrs. Shaffer also won the prize for the longest drive, when she belted the ball 190 yards on the fourth hole. Mrs. Watt won the "pitch-it" honors on the eighth hole, when she approached the nearest the pin.

Blind Bogey

Mrs. Russell Imbt Jr., won the blind bogey tournament and Mrs. William Nixon was judged the winner of the tournament according to the Calloway system.

Mrs. Joseph Wallace won the "pig-in-poke" prize.

Kulp's Nine, Tru-Matic Win In Softball

Yankees Give Four Players For Blackwell

New York (AP) — The New York Yankees yesterday purchased pitcher Ewell Blackwell from the Cincinnati Reds, marking the fourth straight year they have reached into the rival circuit to pluck a big name player to aid in their pennant drive.

Johnny Schmitz, three minor leaguers and cash for the big right-hander. In Cincinnati the Reds said the minor leaguers were outfielders Bob Marquis and Jim Greengrass and pitcher Ernie Nevel. Marquis and Nevel were with Kansas City and Greengrass with the Beaumont, Tex., club.

The minor league players will be named later.

The Yankees refused to say how much cash they had to shell out for Blackwell but it must have been in the neighborhood of $50,000 since they had to outbid Cleveland and the Chicago White Sox for his services.

Blackwell follows the August route taken by Johnny Mize, Johnny Hopp and Johnny Sain, all former National Leaguers who made their way to the Yankees and the pot of pennant gold. The Yankees purchased Mize from the New York Giants in 1949 and he helped them win the flag that year.

They bought Hopp from the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1950 and went on to capture the flag. Last year the Yanks obtained Sain from the Boston Braves and marched to their third straight world championship.

Poor Season

Although Blackwell is in the midst of his poorest season in the big leagues, he may prove to be as valuable an addition to the Yankees as each of the three previous National League purchases. The six-foot, six-inch California-born righthander has been able to win only three games this year against a dozen reversals. In addition, he currently is plagued by a sore arm and hasn't pitched since August 7. He will be 30 in October.

The sore arm angle probably is the reason why all National League clubs waived on the once great pitcher.

It is no secret that Blackwell was unhappy in Cincinnati where he toiled brilliantly at times through six seasons. He generally was acclaimed baseball's number one hurler in 1947 when he won 22 games for the second division Reds, including 16 straight.

Reds Decision Braves In Eleventh

Cincinnati, (AP)—Shortstop Roy McMillan singled home "Hank" Edwards with the winning run in the 11th inning yesterday to give the Cincinnati Reds a 5 to 4 victory over the Boston Braves.

Starter Jim Wilson was pounded out in the eighth when Cincinnati scored three times to take a 4 to 2 lead. Boston came right back in the ninth, banging out four safeties to count twice off Frank Smith and tie the count.

Winning Run

With one down in the 11th, Edwards singled, Grady Hatton singled, Andy Seminick struck out, and then came McMillan's hit to center to drive over the winning marker.

Shawnee Inn Guest Outstanding For Ability To Perform Unusual Feats In Three Various Sports

By Jim Riley

Shawnee-on-Delaware—Good luck, skill or whatever the reason, Dr. Harry N. Kerr, Miami, Fla., osteopath, is one of the most remarkable men on the modern sport scene, as he demonstrated during his short stay here at Shawnee Inn.

Dr. Kerr, 35-year-old athlete of outstanding nature, has to his credit an unassisted triple play in baseball, two holes in one and a pair of perfect 300 games in bowling, and has made so many outstanding plays in each sport that even he can't remember them all.

Dr. Harry N. Kerr

The Miami physician, while still a youngster of high school age, was playing shortstop for North Side A. A. in Chicago, when he came up with the unassisted triple play. The rival club had two runners on base, with no outs, when the batter lined what appeared to be a certain hit over second base.

Kerr, playing close to the bag, made a circus catch and fell on the bag to force the runner moving from second to third on the hit. The runner moving from first to second was tagged out as Kerr scrambled to his feet, to complete the most difficult of all baseball plays.

Unusual

The athletic doctor continued to do outstanding things even in later life, like the pair of holes-in-one, both accounted for on the Melrose Country Club, in Philadelphia, where he was club champion. The first ace came in 1947 and the second in 1949, just before the golfing physician departed for Miami, where he has had a practice for three years.

Dr. Kerr entered the bowling record books for the first time in 1943, when he rolled a 300 game in the Philadelphia Major League, on the Frankford alleys.

Kerr's most thrilling episode in sports came on a Winter's night in 1946, when he was rolling for the Philadelphia Individual Match Game championship. Kerr registered his second 300 game on this date and needed it to win the title as the opposing kegler came up with a 289 score.

To prove that all advance publicity reaching Shawnee about his ability was true, Dr. Kerr went out and shot a par 72 in his first time on the course.

In two years of bowling in Miami and Florida, Dr. Kerr has won both the Miami and Florida titles, although he finds time to bowl only one or two nights a week.

Oh, yes—Dr. Kerr also held a royal flush in poker, during a friendly game with classmates in Philadelphia, in 1950.

The wonderous Dr. Kerr, a graduate of the College of Osteopathy, Philadelphia, stands six feet, two inches in height, weighs approximately 175 pounds, is married and is the father of two children.

A's Rally In Eighth Inning To Sink Red Sox

Philadelphia (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, who are making a daily habit of late inning rallies, pushed over four runs in the eighth inning yesterday three on a bases-loaded double by Cass Michaels, to win the first game of a scheduled doubleheader at Shibe Park from the Boston Red Sox. The second game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Boston held a 3 to 2 edge going into the last of the eighth, having scored one run on Billy Goodman's double and Clyde Vollmer's single in the first, another on Dick Gernert's 14th homer in the fourth, and a third in the fifth inning on starting pitcher Mickey McDermott's single and Vollmer's two bagger. Dave Philley's fifth home run and a walk and Allie Clark's double had scored the A's runs in the first and fourth.

Big Frame

After Sherry Robertson went out as a pinchhitter to start the eighth, Pete Suder walked. Ferris Fain also walked and Willard Nixon came in to relieve Al Benton. Philley walked to fill the bases and Gus Zernial's fly admitted Suder. Clark was handed an intentional pass and then Michaels unloaded his double off the left field wall.

Del Wilber homered for the Red Sox off relief pitcher Hooper in the ninth but that was all for the Red Sox. Wilber had entered the ball game in the eighth after catcher Sammy White of the Sox and third baseman Billy Hitchcock of the A's were thrown out of the game for trading punches.

Earlier, shortstop Eddie Joost and manager Jimmy Dykes of the Athletics were thumbed out for arguing.

Giants Roll To Nod Over Pirates

Pittsburgh, (AP)—"Whitey" Lockman's two-run homer in the first inning sent the New York Giants rolling yesterday to an easy 14-7 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Veteran southpaw Dave Koslo went the distance for the Giants, scattering 11 hits for his ninth victory of the campaign. The Giants clubbed five Pirate hurlers for 16 hits.

Big Blows

Ralph Kiner blasted his 29th homer with one aboard in the Pirate four-run sixth. They got two more in the eighth.

Alvin Dark and Bob Thomson with three hits apiece led the New York attack which saw every member of the starting nine except Koslo hit safely.

Lockman's 11th homer got the Giants off to a 2-0 lead.

Pirates, Giants Hit Into Stands

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Ever try getting a baseball for a souvenir at a major league ball park?

Plenty

The 3,561 fans at Forbes Field yesterday didn't have to try very hard.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants, between them hit exactly 102 balls into the stands or out of the park.

That's one ball for every 34.8 fans. The cost? $2.50 a ball.

Runs Benefit Dodgers, Yankees

New York (AP) — One reason why the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers lead their respective leagues is because they have been the least shut out teams in the majors.

Number

The Yankees, American League batting leaders, have been blanked only five times. The Dodgers have been held runless six times.

High Scoring Features Both League Games

Kulp's Foundry and Tru-Matic ran up the scores while obtaining victories in the Monroe County Softball League yesterday. Kulp's contingent blasted the Union Printers, 22-6, on the East Stroudsburg Junior High School field, while Tru-Matic took the measure of IAM at Stroudsburg Playground, 12 to 7.

The outcome of the Kulp's Foundry-Union Printers game was never in doubt, as the winning aggregation picked up six runs in the second and nine more in the third round, after scoring twice in the opening frame.

However, the winning aggregation made certain of victory with one more run in the fourth and four in the sixth.

Same Story

Tru-Matic also held the upper hand after scoring three runs in the second and four in the third. However, in this case the winning team also made certain of victory with three counters in the fifth.

The Monroe County Softball League will suspend operations for the remainder of the season, in honor of the Softball Gold Medal tournament scheduled to get underway next Tuesday.

Dodgers Bunch Runs In Three Frames To Decision Cubs, 9-6

Chicago (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers scored one run in the first inning and four in the second and seventh yesterday defeating the Chicago Cubs 9 to 6 to maintain their lead over the second-place New York Giants.

Gil Hodges powered a clutch two-run double in the seventh inning for the Dodgers to seal the decision. "Dutch" Leonard's throwing error enabled Jackie Robinson to score the first run in the Brook's seventh before Hodges came to bat.

Brooklyn scored in the first on Robinson's triple and George Shuba's single. The Dodgers picked up four more in the second and chased starter Bob Kelly during the progress.

Hodges also had a hand in this production, singling for the first run. Before "Turk" Lown could restore order, the first placers got a run on a bases-loaded walk to "Pee-Wee" Reese before Robinson singled for the other two.

The Cubs pecked away at starter Clem Labine for single runs in the first and third.

Brooklyn cooked up the winning rally in the seventh when Robinson bunted safely, and stole second. Shuba walked, Duke Snider bunted, and when Leonard threw wide past first, Robinson scored. Hodges followed with his key double, and winning pitcher Joe Black's squeeze bunt sent catcher Roy Campanella across with the fourth run.

Forest Hills Play Opens Today

Forest Hills, N. Y., (AP)—The 71st edition of the United States National Tennis Championships get under way today and for the second straight year it will be Frank Sedgman against the field.

The tournament will run until a week from Sunday—September 7—and when it's all over Sedgman will have had to battle his way past 127 other players from the United States and more than half a dozen foreign countries.

Aussies Favored

If anyone except Sedgman is going to win the title, the somewhat gloomy forecasts of United States experts are awarding it to either Ken McGregor or Mervyn Rose, two other Australians.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the number one American, is ranked at the top of the domestic seedings to advance to the semi-final against McGregor.

Boros Favored To Win

Wethersfield, Conn, (AP) — The first annual $15,000 Insurance City Open golf tournament, New England's richest, opens here today with Connecticut's own Julius Boros a big sentimental favorite.
